

Solar

In the north there have been many small installations on roofs and a few small ground installations. The only large installations have been on commercial building roofs out of sight. The large installations covering fields which are in the south have so far not come north and are unlikely to do so, but the situation is being monitored